ABOUT JSOU

History

In September 2000, under the leadership of the United States Special Operations Command (USSOCOM) Commander, Army General Peter Schoomaker, the Joint Special Operations University (JSOU) was established as an institution of higher learning. Since its founding, JSOU has strived to provide the highest quality of joint special operations forces (SOF) leadership education at both the operational and strategic levels. JSOU provides resident, mobile education team (MET), distance learning (DL), and professional military education (PME) courses to the joint SOF community. University faculty members also support senior and intermediate-level PME programs and the emerging educational requirements of numerous U.S., interagency, and international organizations.

Mission

The Joint Special Operations University (JSOU) prepares SOF professionals to address strategic and operational challenges, arming them with the ability to think through problems with knowledge and insight.

Vision

Attendance

Resident Courses: students are considered to be at their place of duty/work while attending resident courses. Therefore, they are expected to be on time and attend 100 percent of the course unless the instructor of record grants an exception. Exceptions are approved on a case-by-case basis. The instructor of record will determine if the student meets graduation requirements. Sick leave may be authorized when a hospital/doctor certifies a student's absence from class for incapacitation due to illness or injury. It is the student's responsibility to notify the instructor of record of any medical condition that will prevent them from attending the course. Extended absences could result in dismissal from the course.

Blended Courses: students in blended courses will access the distance learning portion of the course and attend the resident portion as outlined in the course syllabus. It is expected that all requirements of the online portion of the course will be met not later than the start day of the resident portion, unless an earlier completion date is specified in the syllabus.

Distance Learning Courses: a fully online course requires no physical ‘seat time’ at the JSOU campus (or any other course location) and generally allows students to access course materials and participate in assigned activities as their schedules permit. However, students must meet deadlines and must complete all course requirements in the time specified in the course syllabus.

Virtual Courses: courses offered synchronously via a commercial, NIPR, or SIPR video and audio conferencing platforms, depending on classification of course. Students and instructors meet at a specified time during the established course period. Students must have access to the appropriate networks for classified courses, and access to commercial computer/laptop/device to access course materials and the virtual webinar, for unclassified courses.

Transcripts

The information reflected on the student transcript represents the information contained in the student information system regarding the student’s course completions. Official and unofficial student transcripts encompass courses taken at JSOU since the establishment of JSOU at MacDill AFB in AY11. If a student completed a course before AY11, a transcript might not be available as the records may no longer exist. JSOU can only guarantee transcripts for courses taken since AY11; however, JSOU will attempt to assist students when feasibly possible in determining JSOU course completions prior to AY11.

- a. The Student Transcript Request Form is available on the JSOU website at: www.jsou.us
- b. JSOU accepts requests for transcripts delivered through official mail or email. JSOU will not release a student transcript to a third party without the consent of the student.
- c. Student transcripts will display all courses attempted and completed.
- d. Requests may take 4-6 weeks for processing.

Course Materials

The course manager will issue all required course materials on the first day of class.

Ethical and Professional Behavior

Students are expected to adhere to the ethical and professional standards associated with their professional duties (both military and civilian) and JSOU’s academic standards. Students found in violation of academic and/or professional misconduct will be subject to dismissal from the course/program they are attending and discipline from their chain of command.

Copyright/Plagiarism

JSOU complies with United States copyright law (Title 17, USC) which protects the rights of authors (or the copyright holder) to control the reproduction, distribution, performance, or display of original intellectual and creative works, both published and unpublished, which have been fixed in a tangible medium. Plagiarism entails appropriating the literary composition of another, parts or passages of their writings, and/or the ideas or language of the same and intending to pass them off as the product of one's mind. An example is copying verbatim, without quotation marks, with the intent to claim the material as one's work without giving credit to the author. The intent is established based on consideration of all circumstances and evidence presented. The correct method for giving credit to a source in a written work is to use quotation marks and an accompanying footnote or citation. In the case of oral presentations, credit must be given for using or paraphrasing direct quotes. Instructors will provide students with the appropriate style guide to utilize for citing research sources. Plagiarism is grounds for dismissal from a course or program.

Services for Students with Disabilities

JSOU fully supports and complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) Policy. We endeavor to provide students, employees, and the community an opportunity for success with as few deterrents possible. We strive to create a welcoming environment and will work in good faith to provide reasonable accommodations for students with special needs.

Students are encouraged to make their instructors aware of any special accommodations they may require to be successful in their classes. Instructors have the authority to make reasonable accommodations in their classrooms. Prospective students are encouraged to contact the Admissions Department if assistance is required in applying for admission or registering for courses.

Student Complaints

Students must discuss complaints with the responsible faculty member within three days of the occurrence of the issue. The student must bring all supporting materials (handouts, text, class notes, etc.) to this informal meeting and must be prepared to openly discuss all aspects of the complaint. In the event this meeting does not resolve the issue, the student must schedule an appointment with the Dean of Academics within a month. During this meeting, the student must present, in writing, all issues in question. To aid the Dean of Academics in rendering a fair and equitable decision, the student must be prepared to provide all supporting materials. The complaint must include information regarding the action the student is appealing and any related mitigating circumstances. The Dean of Academics will act on all student complaints and provide a written response to the student within ten business days of receipt of the written request.

Grievance Procedures

After following the above student complaint procedures, if the student is not satisfied with the decision by the Dean of Academics, the student may elect to file a written grievance with the Accrediting Council for Continuing Education and Training (ACCET). The grievance should include all information deemed pertinent for final disposition of the matter. ACCET can be contacted at 1722 N. Street NW, Washington, DC. 20036. Telephone: (202) 955-1113. Information/website: www.accet.org.

Dress Code

For all courses, military students may wear any official uniform combination, to include any combination of dress uniform, flight suits, or battle dress uniform. Civilian personnel should wear conservative, professional casual attire (slacks, open collar shirts, dresses, etc.). Jeans, shorts, T-shirts, athletic wear, sneakers, flip-flops, and other very casual types of attire are not authorized.

Smoking

Smoking, to include smokeless tobacco, is not permitted on campus outside of the designated areas. E-cigarettes are not permitted inside the facility. Please treat e-cigarettes as a tobacco product and use them in the designated smoking areas.

Weapons

The possession of weapons on base is regulated by federal law, and unless authorized, students cannot bring firearms on the installation. For more details, please contact Security Forces at (813) 828-3322.

USSOCOM Research Library

The USSOCOM Research Library has the dual mission of serving as a command library to USSOCOM, including its components and TSOCs and as an academic library to JSOU. JSOU students have access to the collection of SOF and leadership related items which consists of books, e-books, audiobooks, videos, periodicals, and online scholarly databases. The library staff provide references, instruction, and interlibrary loan services. There are computers available in the library for students to use. The library online portal page can be found at <http://jsou.libguides.com/welcome>.

Students are automatically assigned library access if the completion of their course requires the use of the library. If a student is not automatically assigned access, they can always request access for the duration of their course.

Students can apply for more permanent access if they are a member of USSOCOM Headquarters, one of the components, TSOC, or within the SOF Enterprise. To contact the library, see the contacts page at <http://jsou.libguides.com/welcome> or email jsoulibrary@socom.mil for hours, phone numbers, and email addresses.

Student Business Center

Education Outreach Center

The Education Outreach Center exists to support the SOF community further their civilian education and to enhance their professional knowledge and abilities. Our academic advisors can assist each SOF member as they navigate their educational journey and help prepare them for academic success. Specifically, the Education Outreach Center can assist students with exploring bachelor's and master's degree programs; reviewing military transcripts, college education, and experience to informally assess transferable college credit; selecting degree programs that are compatible with professional and personal goals; developing academic roadmaps; and providing persistent, tailored academic support. The intent is that through tailored advice, more SOF enlisted will achieve an educational milestone that supports the USSOCOM Commander's commitment to educating SOF. The Education Outreach Center can be reached at (813) 826-4246 or by email at education.outreach@socom.mil.

Articulation Agreements and Academic Partnerships

In order to facilitate the transfer of creditable college coursework taken at JSOU to degree-granting institutions, JSOU has formal arrangements with regionally accredited colleges and universities to include Excelsior College, Fayetteville State University, George Washington University, New England College, Norwich University, and the University of Charleston, WV. Check the JSOU website or with the Academic Resource Center to obtain the most recent list of schools and agreements. Each of these schools has matched required courses in specific degree programs they offer to equivalent courses given by JSOU. These agreements between academic institutions can expedite degree completion substantially, and students are encouraged to investigate degree options offered through these agreements.

Student Café

The Student Café includes a refrigerator, microwave, coffeemaker, and vending machines. Coffee and tea are for sale on an honor system. Vending machines are cash only. Snacks and drinks with lids may be brought into the classroom. Please clean up and properly dispose of your trash.
